

Guidance for Applying to become a Circular Economy Institute Advanced Practitioner Member

Introduction

This application document sets out the processes by which individuals can qualify to become registered as Circular Economy Institute (CEI) Advanced Practitioner Members. The criteria to become a CEI Advanced Practitioner Member are based on education, training, experience, professional and ethical conduct.

How to become a CEI Advanced Practitioner Member?

You are required to:

- Complete an application form.
- Sign a declaration to confirm you will comply with the CEI Code of Ethics (appendix 1) and Standards of Professional Conduct (appendix 2).
- Submit your CV demonstrating your competence, knowledge and engagement with the circular economy within your profession.
- Provide a Continuing Professional Development (CPD) plan for remaining up to date for the next 12 months (appendix 3).

How do I know if I meet the criteria?

You can start the application process by completing the Candidate Initial Assessment (appendix 3). This document lists the criteria for becoming a CEI Advanced Practitioner Member and gives you the opportunity to write notes against the criteria on how you meet the competencies. It will give you the opportunity to identify any areas where you need to carry out further development and will help you think of examples to include when writing your CV and personal statement.

How do I write my CV?

The CV must demonstrate 3 years of your knowledge, expertise and experience in relation to circular economy.

How do I write a CPD plan for the next 12 months?

Regardless of where you are in your career, CPD can benefit you. It is the process of tracking and documenting the skills, knowledge and experience you gain (formally and informally). Use the template in appendix 3 to plan your CPD journey in relation to the circular economy over the next 12 months.

How to apply?

Applicants are encouraged to send in their application electronically to membership@ceinstitute.org. Fees can be paid by calling the Membership Department and they will be sent an invoice.

How will my application be reviewed?

Your application will be considered by an approved CEI representative. All representatives reviewing application will meet the following criteria:

1. Professional Standing
 - o Employed or contracted by CEI to carry out application reviews.
2. Experience
 - o Minimum of 1-year relevant professional practice, demonstrating breadth and depth of experience within the field.
 - o Familiarity with the standards, competencies, and ethical expectations required for membership.
3. Knowledge of Membership Framework
 - o Understanding of the organization's membership pathways, assessment criteria, and code of conduct.
 - o Familiar with CEI Competence Framework.
 - o Commitment to applying criteria consistently and objectively.
4. Skills and Attributes
 - o Ability to exercise sound judgment based on evidence.
 - o Strong written and verbal communication skills, including the ability to provide clear, constructive feedback.
 - o Commitment to fairness, impartiality, and confidentiality.
5. Training and Development
 - o Completion of the CEI Practitioner course (or equivalent).
 - o Commitment to ongoing refresher training and updates to maintain consistency with evolving standards.
6. Ethical Commitment
 - o Agreement to uphold the principles of integrity, confidentiality, fairness, and respect in all review activities.
 - o Declaration of any conflicts of interest when reviewing applications.

What happens if I am successful?

Successful applicants will be entered on the register of CEI Advanced Practitioner Members upon payment of the prescribed fee. Once entered on the register, registrants are entitled to use the title [INSERT] and the designatory letters [INSERT] after their names.

Appendix 1: Code of Ethics

CEI alumni and professional members must:

- Treat everyone fairly and avoid harassment or discrimination of any kind.
- Act ethically, professionally, and with respect in all interactions with clients, employers, and the public.
- Uphold the integrity of the circular economy in all commercial interactions.
- Use sound judgment and care when making circular or financial recommendations.
- Promote ethical practices and inspire others to uphold professional standards.
- Support the circular economy's sustainability and societal benefits.
- Continuously improve their skills and help other professionals do the same.

Appendix 2: Standards of Professional Conduct

CEI Standards of Professional Conduct

Professionalism

A. Knowledge of regulations

Alumni and CEI Professional Members must understand and follow all relevant laws, rules, and regulations that apply to their professional activities, including the CEI Code of Ethics and Standards of Professional Conduct. This includes compliance with laws set by governments, regulatory bodies, licensing agencies, or professional associations.

B. Independence and objectivity

Alumni and CEI Professional Members must exercise reasonable care and judgment to ensure they remain independent and objective in their professional activities.

C. Misrepresentation

Alumni and CEI Professional Members must not knowingly misrepresent any aspect of circular analysis, recommendations, actions, or other professional activities.

Duties to employers and clients

A. Loyalty, prudence, and care

Alumni and CEI Professional Members have a duty of loyalty to the Circular Economy Institute and their clients. They must act with care, sound judgment, and always prioritize their clients' interests over their own.

B. Fair treatment

Alumni and CEI Professional Members must treat all clients fairly and objectively when providing circular analysis, making recommendations, or performing related activities.

C. Suitability

When alumni and CEI Professional Members provide advisory services to clients, they:

- a) Conduct a thorough assessment of the client's or prospective client's circular experience, risk and return objectives, and financial constraints before offering any recommendations or acting. This information is reassessed and updated regularly.
- b) Ensure that any circular initiative aligns with the client's documented objectives, mandates, and constraints before making recommendations or acting.
- c) Evaluate the suitability of initiatives within the context of the client's overall portfolio.

D. Accurate presentation

When sharing information about circular performance, alumni and CEI Professional Members take reasonable steps to ensure it is fair, accurate, and comprehensive.

E. Preservation of confidentiality

Alumni and CEI Professional Members maintain the confidentiality of information related to current, former, and prospective students or clients, except in the following circumstances:

- a) The information pertains to illegal activities by the client or prospective client.
- b) Disclosure is mandated by law.

- c) The client or prospective client has explicitly authorized the disclosure.

Analysis and recommendations

A. Diligence and reasonable basis

Alumni and CEI Professional Members:

- a) Conduct circular project analyses, make recommendations, and take actions with diligence, independence, and thoroughness.
- b) Ensure their circular analyses, recommendations, and actions are supported by appropriate research and a reasonable, well-founded basis.

B. Communication with clients and prospective clients

Alumni and CEI Professional Members:

- a) Clearly disclose to current and prospective clients any significant limitations or risks associated with the circular process.
- b) Exercise sound judgment to identify key factors relevant to circular projects, analyses, recommendations, or actions, and ensure these factors are communicated effectively to clients.
- c) Distinguish between factual information and personal opinions when presenting circular analyses and recommendations.

C. Record retention

Alumni and CEI Professional Members develop and maintain accurate records to support their circular analyses, recommendations, actions, and other communications with current and prospective clients.

Conflicts of Interest

A. Disclosure of conflicts

Alumni and CEI Professional Members provide clear and complete disclosure of any factors that could compromise their independence, objectivity, or ability to fulfil their responsibilities to clients, prospective clients, or employers.

These disclosures must be prominent, written in plain language, and effectively communicate all relevant information.

B. Referral fees or interests

Alumni and CEI Professional Members must inform their employer, clients, and prospective clients, as appropriate, of any compensation, benefits, or considerations they receive or provide in connection with recommending products or services.

Responsibilities as an Alumni or CEI Professional Member

A. Conduct

Alumni and CEI Professional Members do not engage in any conduct that compromises the reputation of the Circular Economy Institute or the Circular Economy Institute's Alumni designation(s).

B. References to CEI and CEI certifications

When referring to the CEI certifications, alumni and CEI Professional Members must not misrepresent what it means to hold the CEI designation, or to be a candidate in the program.
